WARREN REPRESENTATIVES TO DISTRICT MUSIC FESTIVAL. Twelve members of the Warren high school orchestra will join with over one hundred students from nineteen other schools to form an array of instrumental performers for the Northwestern District Music Festival which will be held at McDowell high school, Millcreek, Pa. James Sample, conductor of the Erie symphony, will direct the young people in a formal concert to climax the three day sessions at 8 p. m., Saturday, January 8. Warren's contingent, as pictured, include (left to right) sitting - Stanley Lindberg, Josephine Tigani, Shirleyanne Johnson, Diane Stuart, and Allen Bergman. Standing - Kay Costley, Tom McCune, Maija Baumanis, Andrea Wright, Bill Carlson, Susan Crossett, and David Lindberg.

LITTLE MISS 1955. Mrs. John Yucha, 135 Mill st., Youngsville, proudly displays her daughter, Nancy Jean, the first baby born in Warren County during 1955. The charming little miss arrived in the Warren General Hospital at 7:20 a. m., Saturday, January 1 and will be the recipient of many gifts which are presented annually by Warren merchants.

With the mother and daughter is Mrs. Dorothea Lucas, Warren, a nurse in the hospital nursery.

LONG JOURNEY AHEAD. The flurry of excitement caused by applying for a passport and the long wait for authorization by the U. S. Army for his trip to Germany, does not seem to have ruffled little Peter Michael who will take the long trip to Munich with his mother, Mrs. Rachel Pedersen, sometime in the near future. Awaiting their arrival in Germany is Peter's daddy, Harold M. Pedersen, a chief warrant officer with the U. S. Army Engineer Corps. The family expects to reside in Europe for three years.

Harold plans to make a career of the Army and has, to date, completed nine years in the service. Previous enlistments were served in the Far Eastern area.

Mrs. Pedersen stated that this will be her first experience of crossing the sea and adds that she hopes her orders will allow them to fly. Little Peter voiced no opinions in the matter.

Warren School Board Names Committees

No changes occurred in committees of the Warren school board when it considered this important business, Monday, at its regular meeting. Upon acceptance of the recommendation by Ralph E. Brasington, that the present school board committees be continued, President Melvin Keller made the following appointments for the coming year:

Buildings and Grounds - J. R. Hanson, chairman, C. H. Frantz, Dr. A. J. O'Connor, and M. J. Keller.

Finance - W. H. Cowden, chairman, R. A. Brasington, and Dr. A. J. O'Connor.

Schools - R. A. Brasington, chairman, F. E. Kieshauer, and C. H. Frantz.

Textbooks, Supplies and Equipment - F. E. Kieshauer, chairman, W. H. Cowden, and J. R. Hanson.

Receipts from the state for the October health program totaled $181.50; first half of the general appropriation for the year amounted to $154,849.81; November lunch assistance of $944.37 was received.

Dividends on equitable insurance carried on employees totaled $758.46. Proportionate share of fines for public intoxication, $6.68.

The board passed a resolution which made the recently purchased land south of the Beatty parking lot available to the authority. It approved the return of Miss Mildred Ochs from physical education instructor at the high school to fifth grade teacher at Jefferson elementary school. Robert Connors, sixth grade teacher at South St. school, was released for high school service if such a move is necessary.

The price of milk tickets was set at five for twenty-five cents. State assistance is the major factor considered in establishing the price.

Authorizations were granted for payment to substitutes of $375, special services of $58.50, and janitors' overtime totaling $24.01. Cafeteria supplies of $4,738.81 and services totaling $1,421.85 were approved. Monthly orders amounting to $1,485.65 were sanctioned.

An attendance of ninety-five percent was reported and considered about average. Janitors supplies for 1955-56 of $1,258.20 were authorized. Bills totaling $28,648.42, of which approximately $25,000 was to the joint board, were ordered paid.

CLAUDIA TAFT was chosen this week to be managing editor of the Dragonette for the January and February issues. Miss Taft is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Taft of 104 Biddle st.

AWAITING THE CELEBRITY. Eagerly anticipating the arrival of 1955's first baby to their home are John Yucha, the father, Mildred, 9, Dorothy, 4, and Tommy, 11. Mildred was disappointed that mother and baby sister were not home to make the family portrait complete but felt better when assured by the cameraman that he had already taken the picture in the hospital. Mildred then asked the inevitable question, "Did my baby sister smile?"

In Brief

A Big Election is coming up for the fall of 1955, and in Warren county where the one party system has been very much in evidence through the overwhelming strength of the Republican machine, this means a very big day about May 17, when the primary will be held. Candidates for the many local and county offices to be filled may start obtaining signatures on February 22, and have until March 14 to file them.

In case you are not registered and want to have a voice in this important election, you have until March 26 to register. Boys in the service have until April 22 to mail their official military ballots.

The Democrats will have more than normal interest in the November 8 general election because at least one commissioner must be a member of the minority party. With two Democrats running, much interest will center there. There also are some Wards in Warren where the Democrats have hopes of seating councilmen.

Last week in listing the Warren councilmen whose terms run out this year we unintentionally left out Glen Patchen, Third Ward representative.

In the county races you can be certain that Judge Alexander C. Flick will run for election. Gurney Ball probably will run for register and recorder, an office to which he was appointed following the death of P. C. Ostergard. Prothonotary Ralph Sires will run again. Commissioner William Olney is thinking it over. Most of the potentials still are thinking it over.

Some Moon Case Appeals could be ruled on by Judge Alexander C. Flick right now, but the Warren county jurist is giving the state time to decide if new appointees in the attorney general office want to file briefs. Meanwhile, the defendant, Norman Moon, found guilty of the murder of Judge Allison D. Wade, has lost his attorney, Samuel D. Bramer, of Connells-ville, who has been appointed judge of that district. Moon can continue with Thomas A. Waggoner, of Uniontown, who assisted Braemer, or he can name a successor.

Distribution Of U. S. Government Surplus Food will begin with registrations at the distribution points on January 11 and 12, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Recipients must be registered to receive the food and they must pick up the food at the same points where they are registered. The head of the family is the proper registrant but in an emergency any member of the family over fourteen years of age may do the registering if he presents a note of explanation.

Eligible families must re-register every two months. Positively no registrations will be accepted at the Court House.

Warren Borough Manager, George A. Geracimos, has announced his retirement from the Homespun Inn as of January 1, 1955 in order to devote full time to local government matters. The local restaurant and candy business will be operated by Koula A. and Gust N. Geracimos.

The retirement of Chester S. Allen, founder of the West Penn Oil Co., was announced last week. Reorganization of the firm under the name of West Penn Oil Company, Inc. has been accomplished with the following as officers: H. M. Miller, president; Ernest C. Miller, vice president; L. N. Donaldson, secretary; and Henry C. Marymont, treasurer.

The Order Of The Arrow, an honorary camping organization affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America, which has been reactivated in the Chief Cornplanter Council recently, met Thursday, December 30, at Camp Jefmore for the annual election of officers. Thomas McCune was named chief; Don Kirk, first assistant; Lee Thompson, second assistant; Al Mohnkern, third assistant; James Miller, secretary; James Mohnkern, treasurer; Clayton Bannon, Earl Mohnkern, and Hedsal Wright, trustees.

To Continue High Quality Service is the responsibility of Henry T. Inman, who was appointed vice president, merchandising, for the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania by the board of directors at its regular meeting, December 30. The promotion of Mr. Inman, formerly vice president and general manager of the company's western area, started a chain reaction of other promotions and new appointments.

"Dollar Days" Will Be Promoted for Friday and Saturday, February 18 and 19, according to plans announced by the retailers committee of the Warren Chamber of Commerce. Two new retail members joined the Chamber of Commerce as of January 1, Logan's Men's Wear operated by John Logan, and Pennshire Clothes which is managed by Sam Bresnick.

Twenty-five Dollar Checks will be presented this afternoon to Clarence Benedict and Max Smith, both of Youngsville high school, by the Warren Chamber of Commerce. The young men are student winners of the "Keystone Future Farmers of America Degree" in the Warren-Forest County area. William H. Cannon, chairman of the Chamber's agricultural committee, will make the presentation with Vocational Advisor Ted R. Sponsler, Youngsville Vocational Agricultural Teacher R. L. Albright, and Nat W. Drake, Chamber executive, assisting.

How To Use Library Reference Books will be explained to approximately sixty juniors from the Warren high school by employees the Warren Public Library during special sessions next week. The card index files will be reviewed and introductions to the use of encyclopedias, statistical abstracts, poetry listings, and almanacs will be covered.

Miss Spinney, librarian, advises that such a course could be worked out for adults if any organizations are interested in promoting this type of activity. Most adults would be lost if requested to look up certain facts that are in library reference books.

Fifteen Scouts of Chief Cornplanter Council, Boy Scouts of America, attained the rank of Eagle during 1954, according to a report from the Scout office. These boys will be entertained at the annual recognition dinner, January 29.

Who Will Do What, concerning Red Cross and Civilian Defense activities, in case of an emergency received a preliminary review early this week. Ed Slick and Glenn Nelson, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Red Cross are working out the details with William Fuellhart and Deputy Sheriff Secor. The first decision decreed that the Red Cross will conduct first aid, home nursing, and nurses aid training for the Civilian Defense group.

A Twenty Percent Increase in the Warren County Cancer Society quota for the 1955 crusade, planned for April, was announced this week by Chairman Knox Harper. A meeting of the full board has been called for Thursday, February 3, at 7:30, in the Red Cross Assembly Room, 404 Market st., Warren.

The North Warren Civic Club named officers for the coming year at its meeting held Monday evening. Elected were: Harry Ferguson, president, Clayton Stoldt, vice president, and Kenneth Carlson, secretary-treasurer.

A Policeman For Conewango? Supervisors of Conewango twp. have received a petition signed by citizens of the North Warren area requesting police protection. The township code, according to the lawmakers, requires that the petition be honored. They are now attempting to determine whether the residents of the township, which covers also the Starbrick area, would prefer a part-time or full-time officer.

The question is highly debatable as to whether a policeman is necessary. Consensus of opinion seems to indicate that the North Warrenites are pro and the Starbrick citizens are con.

New Chairman of the Warren Borough Planning Commission is Scotty Calderwood. Don Kinander is serving as secretary.

Harold L. Miles, Spring Creek; and Leader Joseph A. Gahring.

Gifts were presented the inductees from the American Legion and the Salvation Army by Bob Lundberg and Major Charles Schaffer. R. Pierson Eaton and Mrs. Ann Draheim represented the Warren County Selective Service Board.

Elvidge Class Honor Treasurer. The Elvidge Class of the First Presbyterian church held a dinner meeting Monday evening in honor of Miss Kate Winger, who has served as treasurer for the past 32 years. Miss Grace Thomas and Miss Hulda Angermann were called upon by the president Mrs. Anna Lawson, to represent the class in expressing their appreciation to Miss Winger. Mrs. Charles Hudson, retiring president, assisted by Mrs. William Walsh, were in charge of the dinner arrangements, with the dinner being served by the Gerda DeForest Class.

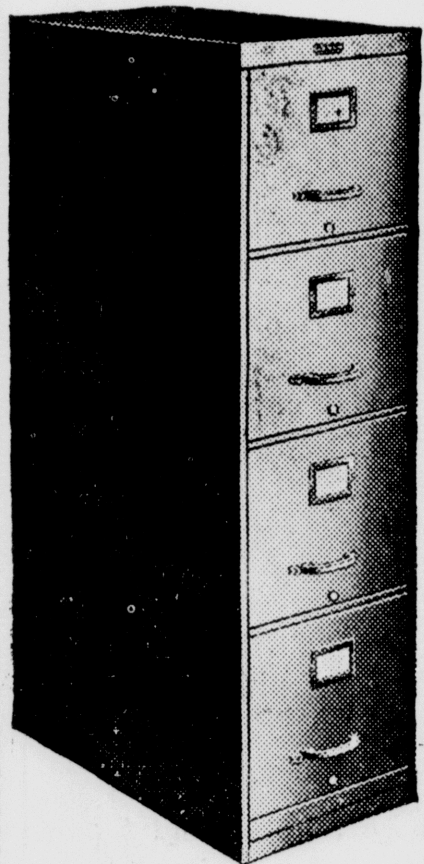

Rent Amount
For those who have wondered how much Warren pays for the former highway garage on Pennsylvania ave. W., and now owned by Esso, the monthly bill is $58. As the result of Warren leasing its airport on a new deal, all boro equipment and supplies that were housed there now are in the garage.

SOCIETY FOR THE PRESERVATION AND ENCOURAGEMENT OF BARBER SHOP QUARTET SINGING IN AMERICA

INCORPORATED

THE PITTSBURGHERS - International Champs - 1948. This quartet will be heard at the seventh annual Night of Harmony in the Warren high school auditorium, January 15.

ROLLING TONES QUARTET - Jamestown, N. Y. - will be heard at the seventh annual Night of Harmony. The members are: Ronnie Merwin, Robert Hitchcock, Jarvis Finmore, and John Berenguer.

Since its organization on June 28, 1947, the Warren Chapter of the SPEBSQSA has become one of the most outstanding civic groups in Warren County. Annually entertaining the residents of the Rouse Hospital, Hoffman Children's Home, and the Watson Memorial Home by singing and presenting gifts, they have helped to spread the Christmas spirit. Distribution of its funds to aid civic clubs, institutions and needy families has endeared the non-profit organization to the other community-minded citizens. Their willingness to cooperate with others in money raising ventures has strengthened many struggling societies.

The Warren Chapter elected Howard Trusler as its first president and Harry Summers was director for the first three years. At the present time, Frank Cruickshank is the presiding officer and Earl Erickson is director, a position he has held with distinction for nearly five years.

The goal of the local group is the same as that cherished by the thousands of like organizations throughout the United States - to preserve and encourage barber shop quartet singing in America. In Warren, three quartets are aiding the chapter in reaching that goal; the Chord Cadets, the Conewango Clippers, and the Dragonaires.

When the men present the Night of Harmony, January 15, the chorus will include nearly forty members in comparison with the twenty-seven when first chartered. This performance, as in the past, will be the greatest array of vocal talent available to local music lovers.

The members really enjoy singing. Visit them sometime during one of their regular meetings which are held every Monday at 8 p. m. in the Trinity Memorial church gymnasium. Any man, regardless of race or religion, is welcome to enjoy what they call "fellowship at its very best".

We salute the members of the Warren chapter, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, who help to "Keep America Singing".

THE CHORD CADETS - Seneca Lands Champs - 1953 in competition held at Pen Yan, N. Y. These men hope to attain international recognition in the future. Jim Cruickshank, Bob Dietsch, Boyd Sanden, and Earl Erickson.

THE DRAGONAIRES - Warren - have all the life and vitality installed in youth and show definite promise of being an outstanding quartet. The members: David Lindberg, Roger Johnsen, Steve Coe, and Pete Sanden.

WARREN CHAPTER CHORUS. Here they are! The men who comprised the Warren Chapter Chorus of the SPEBSQSA in 1954.

THE CONEWANGO CLIPPERS - Warren - eighth place in district competition this year. The members: Wayne Campbell, Dick Yeagle, Ad Scholes, and Carl Johnson.

Dragons Dump Southwestern 51 To 46

Hitting on over forty percent of their shots from the field, the Warren high school five defeated the Southwestern Trojans, 51 to 46, at Lakewood last Tuesday. Sophomore Ed Rickerson and Dick Koebley led the Dragons offense with 12 points each.

The Dragon's defense also started out the new year on the right foot as it held Southwestern to only 6 field goals in the first half of play. Warren was in the lead all during the game except at the close of the third period when the losers went ahead by two. But the Massamen quickly gained back their lead when the final period began and built up their advantage to win by five.

With a minute and 49 seconds left to play, Warren went into a freeze and held possession of the ball until the final four seconds.

Jeff Homan, Warren's best all-around player, and Gail Schafer did not see action because of ankle injuries.

Tomorrow night Warren will open its league action on Beaty Gym when the tough Oil City Oilers come to town. Game time is 8:15 and the Jayvee squads of both schools meet in a preliminary contest at 7 p. m.

Beaty Participates In Junior High League

Beaty Junior high school's basketball team this year will compete in the seven-team Chadakoin Valley Junior High School Athletic League. Besides Beaty, the other members of the Athletic League are Southwestern, Falconer, Frewsburg, and Washington, Jefferson, and Lincoln schools of Jamestown.

Beaty's first league contest will be next Tuesday afternoon at 4 p. m. when it tangles with the Washington five on Beaty Gym. The Blue and Gold of Beaty will play six league games at home and six league games on the road.

Hunting In Alaska and Africa will be the subject of Clarence W. Johnson, of Jamestown, who will speak and show movies of his experiences, for the members of the Warren Field and Stream Club. The program will be held at the regular meeting, Tuesday evening, January 11, at 8 o'clock, in the Glade Twp. Fire Hall.

Dukes Win Twice, Jump To First Place Tie

The Dukes, on the strength of two fine performances by "Easy Ed" Lindberg, downed the Rockets and the Style Shop during the week and are now tied with the Style Shop for first place in the Y Basketball loop. Both teams have a record of 7 wins and one setback.

In the big game of the week, the Dukes came from behind in the fourth quarter and tied the Style Shop at 59 to 59 at the end of the regulation playing time. In the overtime period the Dukes were red hot and scored 10 points and held their opponents scoreless to gain a deadlock for the top spot in the Y league. Lindberg had 26 points to take scoring honors for the evening. Jerry Leonard tossed in 16 markers to lead the Style Shop.

Earlier in the week, the Dukes had outlasted the Rockets, 61 to 55. Lindberg was the big Duke in that game also as he dumped in 20 points for the winning cause. Bill Weidert and Jack White led the Rockets with 13 points.

The Sugar Grove team was downed twice during the week. The Style Shop five walloped them 63 to 26 in a game which saw the losers held scoreless during the fourth quarter. Bob Wolfe and Jerry Leonard had 15 points to lead Style Shop scorers.

The Youngsville-Tidioute combine outlasted Sugar Grove, 51 to 43, in the only other game of the week. Sugar Grove outscored the winners during the second half but could not overcome the lead Youngsville-Tidioute had built up during the initial half. Spear was the high man for Youngsville-Tidioute with 20 points while Marsh had 16 points for Sugar Grove.

Baby Dragons Win

Paced by Tommy LeTrent and John Berdine, the Warren Jayvees beat the Southwestern Junior Varsity, 50 to 39, last Tuesday night. LeTrent scored 16 points, and Berdine, 13 for Warren. It was the Jayvees' second win of the season over Southwestern.

Tomorrow night the Warren Jayvees will tangle with the Oil City Jayvees on Beaty Gym at 7 p. m.

Area Scores

With the end of the holiday season, basketball action in the area is on the upswing. Warren started out the new year with a 51 to 46 triumph over Southwestern. Tidioute, the only other county team to see action during the week, squeezed by its Alumni, 43 to 41, and was dumped by Cranberry, 57 to 48.

Titusville took second place in the Kane Invitational Basketball Tournament as it dropped a 66 to 65 thriller to Butler in the finals. Oil City, Warren's Friday night opponent, got by Rocky Grove, 61 to 55. Meadville clipped Erie Tech, 63 to 43, and Franklin was raked over the coals by Mercer, 67 to 38.

Erie Tech beat Erie Prep, 66 to 62, and Academy whipped Millcreek, 88 to 45. Strong Vincent downed East, 64 to 42, and Jamestown took East, 46 to 42.

Farrell continued unbeaten by defeating New Castle, 53 to 46. Sharon rapped Ambridge, 53 to 45, and Sharpville was beaten by Lakeview, 54 to 51. West Middlesex bested Hickory, 70 to 65.

Kane trounced St. Marys, 70 to 30. East Forest dropped a 49 to 37 decision to North Clarion, and Johnsonburg got by East Forest, 64 to 50. Smethport took Bradford St. Bernards, 61 to 32, and Emporium was 46 to 28 better than Otto Township. Pleasantville bested Townville, 64 to 55, to round out the action in the area this past week.

Jamestown Collegians Sweep Series

Jamestown College All-Stars completed a sweep of their two-game series with the Warren College All-Stars last Thursday night on the YMCA court by edging the Warrenites 104 to 103 in the highest scoring contest in Warren in many years.

Jamestown's Bello connected on a foul shot with 20 seconds left in the contest to score his only point of the evening and give the win to the invaders. George Hesch led all scorers with 33 points and showed the spectators how the great game of basketball should be played. Leo Corkery paced the winners with 32 markers.

Jamestown took the first game of the series 89 to 55.

Beaty Loses To Corry

Held to only two points in the second quarter, the Beaty squad was defeated, 30 to 26, by Corry last Tuesday. Hoffman led the Beaty scorers with 15 markers. Scoring honors for the afternoon went to Francisco of Corry who dumped in 17 points.

OBSERVATIONS

By Bob Walsh

Our Tax Problem

The very simple solution to all local tax problems is to fully utilize the one major medium left exclusively to us for the purpose of providing funds. This requires not only the courage to set the tax sufficiently high, but also the initiative to demand that existing laws be utilized to provide adequate values on which fairly to obtain this money.

Under present state and federal laws the one tax available exclusively to boroughs, cities, counties, and townships is the real estate tax. And it is the fairest one as things stand in Pennsylvania. The vast majority of people will pay this tax in one way or another, even including many who escape per capita and earned income taxes.

The per capita tax is not levied against hardship cases. But even the man or family with no more than a relief or social security check on which to live pays for food, utilities, and rent. Or a home is maintained. In any case where money is paid out the seller has included his expenses in determining his price. And those expenses include his property tax. The buyer helps pay that tax.

In the case of the earned income tax which Warren is considering, there are some who may not pay. Unless the tax is set up so that there is a flat assessment against those who are not hardship cases and obviously have adequate income other than that which comes under the heading of "earned", some who are very able to pay will not be taxed.

Present Assessments Unfair

The assessment system in Warren county is not well established, a fact to which those in charge have agreed according to an interview published by the Warren Times Mirror. The county commissioners have been quoted as saying that the only way to fairly assess property is to pay about $140,000 for outside experts to do the job.

We agree that this is a good answer, but we do not agree that it is the only one. A look at the assessed valuations will reveal glaring errors that any citizen, even one unversed in real estate values, could correct. Too much of our assessing has been done by driving or walking past the property. There is no basic method for arriving at values, each assessor working on his own.

The Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs is publishing a series of articles on assessments, prepared by the Pennsylvania Local Government Conference. This Conference reports that equalization was the goal of the 1951 tax law which was no more than a clarifying amendment to the 1943 tax assessment law, a law which was not applied by most counties.

The findings of this conference are quite concise, edifying and clear. The county commissioners and chief assessor in any county should easily understand them, and, more important, utilize them.

It found that the progressive states were using the reproduction value as the basis on which assessments were computed. To establish these values a table of construction costs was used, based on the square foot area of the improvement.

By securing all the data on a given property that would influence its reproduction and applying these facts to the construction cost tables it was possible to arrive at fair assessments if those costs were adjusted by the condition of the property, and its location in relation to the business area, transportation facilities, schools, shopping centers, and the desirability of the neighborhood as a residential area.

As the result of these studies the Local Government Commission agreed that this formula was the only sound manner in which equalization could be effected and it became the basis for the 1951 Pennsylvania Assessment Law.

If this is true, why hasn't it been so used in Warren county?

The Commission Says

Let's quote a few paragraphs from the Internal Affairs article: "What is the new Pennsylvania Real Estate Assessment Law which was devised by the State Legislature in cooperation with the Local Government Commission of Pennsylvania?"

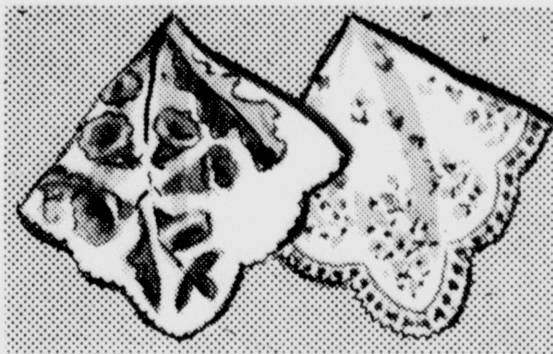

"First it must be remembered that it is not a new law but rather a refinement of the 1943 Real Estate Assessment Act, the Pennsylvania Local Government Conference, representing the taxing governmental agencies, explains. It makes mandatory, within a five-year period, the use of certain provisions contained in the 1943 Act, such as the establishment of a permanent record system having property record cards, land maps, property owners index cards, and cross-indexing.

"Although the 1943 Act contained these tools, there were no provisions wherein their application became obligatory on the part of the 59 affected counties in the Commonwealth (Philadelphia, Allegheny and the 6 third-class counties are covered by other legislation).

"Another important change that is effected in the 1951 Act is that the Chief County Assessor is the responsible individual making the assessment. By bringing into existence a modern system of records, and by having the evaluation of properties determined by a system of tables and charts the need for competent authority for efficient operation of the system is apparent, the Conference points out. Obviously the Chief County Assessor is the logical person to insure the success of such a project."

Remove The Handcuffs

Another major reason for establishing this tax base was to provide local governments with the means of raising money without going to court. It allows the assessed valuation to be as high as 75 percent of the actual value. In Warren county we have it set at forty per cent.

Three steps are needed. First we must establish a basic method of arriving at values. Second, we must see that assessors apply it fairly to all properties. Third, we must increase the percentage sufficiently so that all governing officials can obtain the money needed within the legal millage limit.

We don't believe that Warren county has done any of these. As a result we are faced with financial problems, and such groups as the Warren borough council are searching for a heterogeneous combination of taxes with which to provide funds.

Do It Ourselves

We propose a tax commission be named in Warren county consisting of men and women who are informed on costs of building, plumbing, electrification, painting, plastering, masonry, and related trades and professions. Houses then could be evaluated on a square foot basis, and vary according to the type of building, flooring, number of baths, luxury of kitchen, and similar influences. Arrive at a fair method of depreciation, decide land values throughout the county, and come up with assessments that might not be perfect but certainly would be as equitable as is possible without paying $140,000 to so-called experts who might not be sufficiently well informed about local conditions to do a truly satisfactory job.

A New Hobby
Modern conveniences make it possible to indulge in newly created hobbies, some of which you can dream up yourself. With many people always indulging in the hobby of collecting things, we can think of one that could combine the better features of many. It would have many healthful, educational, and satisfying aspects.

We have in mind the full use of a good color camera and the accessories which can be obtained for a variety of purposes. Equipped with a telephoto lense a very good camera can be purchased today for about $65. If that sounds like a large expenditure, look at some other pleasures, such as fishing, hunting, golfing, bowling, flying, horseback riding, and on into the pocketbook.

We can tell you how that investment in a good camera can pay off in a wide variety of ways. We suggest you start several albums in which you will collect various classifications of pictures. One of these will contain the wild plants and trees of the area. With each picture you will write a caption, giving the name of the tree or plant, and something about it.

This one collection will require much time, fresh air, either walking or driving, and when you have filled many pages you will have in color your own collection of plant life, your knowledge will be greatly increased, and the pictures will keep. Collected plants even when preserved might not.

In another album you could collect colored pictures of the many kinds of birds seen in this section. With the telephoto lense you would get many of these without the need of close-ups. Here again you would have a large collection of educational value and just as satisfying as if you were to shoot and stuff them.

Those who collect birds' eggs might find it much more convenient and a happier situation for the bird family if they shot colored pictures, instead. On facing pages you could have the bird and the eggs, complete with nest and background. Over two hundred pages soon would be filled in this way.

Once started in this fascinating hobby you would find many strange birds, animals, and plants being added to your fount of knowledge, and you would be constantly in search of new additions. If several people were so engaged the satisfaction of accomplishment would be commonly enjoyed, and the knowledge of each would contribute to the success of all.

The many advantages are obvious. Such a hobby takes you into the fresh air. You can either hike or drive. You are not limited to seeking out a single specimen, but can take pictures of birds, animals, trees, and plants, on every outing. You will replace pictures with better ones and you will enjoy the excitement of finding rare species which have escaped you or about which you once knew nothing.

There also are the seasons to consider. The pictures of many plants could vary with the season. The same is true of many animals and birds.

To house such a collection if the actual objects were brought in would require a museum. In beautiful pictures you could put them in a half dozen books, and housed in a corner of a room, with a good lamp, pen, ink, and table for working equipment, they would provide many pleasant hours.

Here is a hobby that combines many. It provides a planned purpose for taking pictures, to which you can add many other collections, such as an album of the area's landmarks, taken in the various seasons for full effect. You

Maybe more important than all, you are preserving instead of destroying. You bring the animal or the plant home, but you leave it in its natural surroundings very much alive.

The Outlook From Everywhere

For the sixth year, CBS flew in its correspondents from all over the world to take part in its annual year end review of the news which it called "Years Of Crisis." It was a very witty, informal and informative show and it demonstrated a number of things.

For one thing, you don't on a show of this nature need a lot of production - at least, production in the sense of films of Winston Churchill and Nehru or remote pickups of President Eisenhower. In "Years Of Crisis," correspondents from New Delhi and Paris and Vienna and Bonn and Rome and other spots simply gather around a table and talk. Of course, it is highly organized talk; the correspondents know what they are going to say and how long they are expected to say it. But there was no visible script and the cor-libs and wisecracks. Considering that this was a full hour, it moved very smoothly from point to point and remained throughout remarkably interesting.

One thing about gathering together all these farflung folk is that you get all the local wisecracks from all over and this show was plentifully favored with them. Eric Sevareid, CBS chief Washington correspondent, contributed: "McCarthyism is changing from an 'ism' to a 'wasm'." From Howard K. Smith, of London: "East and west could not agree on the time of day - but they both agreed that the time was not one minute to twelve."

Co-existence was the first order of the day and all the co-existence jokes - there are quite a number of them in spite of the fact that co-existence is hardly a laughing matter - were bandied about. Bill Downs contributed the word "co-extermination" which is new in my lexicon. Bill Costello, fresh back from a round the world tour, revealed that one of the gags out around New Delhi way is: "Who is India neutralist against?" And Sevareid contributed a phrase that has baffled me ever since - "comparative co-existence."

Theoretically, a bunch of guys seated around a table, talking, is a radio show, not a TV show at all - actually it was on both radio and TV - but it doesn't work out that way. In looks and mannerisms and jokes, foreign correspondents tend to take on the protective coloration of the countries they live in - Richard Hottelet, looking as if he belonged in Bonn; David Schoenbrun in Paris, and Howard K. Smith in London - where they are respectively stationed. And it adds a certain flavor to their reportage if you can see them as well as hear them.

The reports themselves from all over were extraordinarily cheerful, more optimistic than they have been in years. Business is good - or at least better - all over the world. Tensions are less. American prestige, which was in a calamitous state at the beginning of the year, is improving in most spots. Even the Iron Curtain has lifted a little.

Edward R. Murrow, who presided over the stable of foreign correspondents, has always been interested in the little picture. Consequently, in addition to the bold, large thoughts, there were some smaller ones. Alexander Kendrick pointed out that Christmas had been allowed by the Communists to return to Budapest and that Belgrade got its first traffic light and now needed only some traffic. Schoenbrun reported that Parisians had stopped honking their horns but that Christian Dior had definitely lost the battle of the bulge. And Costello revealed that you could now get taxis, an unheard of thing, at the airports in India.

While the picture in general was bright, it was not entirely unalloyed. Russia, the correspondents agreed, would probably try nothing climactic in 1955 but that did not mean the tide was running in our favor or that Russia's aims had changed very much.

The hour sped by in great haste and anyone who saw the show came away from it feeling frightfully well-informed and could invade his next dinner party, loaded with ammunition for his dinner partner.

Top Movies of 1954

This is the time of year when the various movie columnists and drama critics prepare a list of the top ten movies made in 1954. Many of these haven't been in Warren, or, if they have, will return for a second run or to a neighboring theatre if you have missed them.

Instead of listing the top ten we will give you a cross-section of the leaders, on which there is no agreement between many critics. Thus you will have the best as picked by many reviewers.

Listed by almost all movie writers are "On The Waterfront", "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers", "Carmen Jones", "Gate of Hell", and "Ugetsu".

And either in the first or second ten of most lists you will find, "The Little Kidnappers", "High and Dry", "Beat the Devil", "The Earrings of Madame De", "Genevieve", "Romeo and Juliet", "Executive Suite", "The Vanishing Prairie", "Bread, Love, and Dreams", and "Beauties of the Night".

And also mentioned by most in varying degrees of praise are, "Pickwick Papers", "Robinson Crusoe", "The Caine Mutiny", "The Golden Coach", "Sabrina", "Rear Window", "Dial M for Murder", "The Final Test", "The Heart of the Matter", "Intimate Relations", "Mr. Hulot's Holiday", "Man with a Million", "Beat the Devil", and "A Star Is Born".

Of course to fairly report on books, plays, or films one should consider the various classifications. If you don't like musicals you won't enjoy a highly rated picture if it is such a movie. If you are bothered by suspense, stay away from the Rear Window and similar stuff.

One type of movie and book which is popular today is the religious drama. But few of them satisfy the hunger that is so apparent among us, the hunger for the answer to religious mysteries, the hunger to see stories of the past told clearly and understandably, and, of course, dramatically.

The makers of movies seem to lose the story in immensity of sets, wideness of screens, colorful background, and the introduction of invented plots to supposedly bolster facts that could be powerfully done on their own without the questionable benefit of modern imaginations.

We still hunger for the religious story that will send us home a more convinced and better Christian than when we hopefully bought our ticket.

New Magazine

Another TV magazine is in the making with the Curtis Publishing company (Saturday Evening Post) backing the venture. Marcia Johnson, former Warren girl, will be on the staff, perhaps in a fashion so lofty as to be listed in the mast-head.

Top Program

Honors again are decked about the neck of Edward R. Murrow as the result of his Years of Crisis program last Sunday, in which he brought home his foreign correspondents for a review of the year as seen from the variety of areas in which they work. It gave the American, European, Asiatic, and other viewpoints on co-existence, and related subjects. Mr. Murrow does this every year and it is a refreshingly educational hour. It also is a trip home for Christmas, all expenses paid, for these crack reporters of CBS.

Boom For "Ike" Starts

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON. -- The "Ike in '56" boom among Republicans -- profuse for a winter, hothouse potted plant -- springs from several seeds, including present fears and hopes for the future.

Thought not exactly a new phenomenon -- Franklin D. Roosevelt enjoyed it, too, on the same almost hysterical scale -- it seems worthwhile to explore the origins and background because of what they tell of the Republican party at this critical stage in its resumed management of government after so long a lapse.

The drive to get the President to run again is generated by hard-boiled, practical politicians. Their motives are not sentimental, but coldly calculating. They are looking, in short, for a winner. That's what they need in their business. They stay in power only if the party stays in power. Most of them are convinced that the party can win in 1956 and remain in power only if the President is a candidate.

In this and most other respects, the "Ike in '56" campaign is proceeding according to tradition. It is different only in that it got going a bit prematurely. Two events were responsible for that.

One was the Republican defeat in the Congressional elections. That showed the party, running on its own, does not have what it takes for victory. It was not a bad defeat -- but that it was not attributed to the President's personal participation in the campaign with a devotion and an intensity not previously matched by a President in an off-year election.

Once again the election demonstrated that there are more Democrats than Republicans in the country. From that it follows that the only way Republicans can win is the way they won in 1952. That is, with the help of independent and Democratic votes. The Eisenhower name at the top of the ticket is needed for that. That was not a very difficult deduction for the practical politicians.

So, right off quick, they started the cry "Ike in '56."

The other event that forced the "Ike in '56" campaign out a little early was the Senate censure of Senator Joe McCarthy and the subsequent threat that the Wisconsin Senator might start a third party.

Practical politicians saw the President as the one figure who not only could hold the party as closely together as is possible, but could win enough support outside the party to offset defections to a third party ticket. The third party threat provided an opportunity to close ranks about the President and practical politicians encouraged that in a succession of state-

It will be the practical politicians who will bring the most pressure upon the President to run again -- as he is the choice item for these salesmen in their business. This reporter often recalls an episode in the 1940 Roosevelt third-term movement, which was the subject of a great debate because of a break with tradition. Early in 1940 the Democratic National Committee met here. It was composed, as national committees always are, of practical politicians, very few of whom had any sympathy with the Roosevelt New Deal. That, however, was secondary. Important for them was winning the election. They were sure Franklin D. Roosevelt could do that. They were not sure anybody else could. So they passed a resolution asking the President to run for a third term

Postage Going Up?

The newspaper associations have won their battle against the so-called junk mail, and the city and village delivery of simplified addressed mail will be discontinued March 31, 1955. The opinions concerning this kind of mail were very mixed, but pressure was concentrated, most of it coming from a single direction, the newspapers and other publications who felt they were losing much advertising to this kind of sales approach.

In case you have avoided previous articles, here or otherwise, concerning junk mail, it is third class delivery, used mostly by those engaged in direct mail selling. They send you catalogues or printed pieces advertising their products. It always has been the custom of the post office to require these people to place the actual address on the mail.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield and his staff decided this was too costly and that money could be saved by requiring nothing more than such a word as "householder" to appear on the mail. This meant that the seller needed only to have this word printed on all his pieces, and did not have to pay for addressing them separately.

The postmaster believed the elimination of sorting the mail would save enough money to make third class mail pay. And for fifteen months he did not budge from that position.

During that time, and previous to it when the plan was being conceived, the newspapers through their associations and organizations besieged the postmaster with arguments against the idea, and carried on a campaign within their ranks to present a mass attack. Surveys were taken of members and it was claimed that $35 million a year would be lost in advertising.

Many members of these associations were assessed to carry on the fight whether they believed in it or not, and the poor weeklies were mourned over by the biggies who in turn were having a very close look at the large accounts they might lost.

The fact was that few weeklies in a vast number of cases were benefiting either way, because the direct advertising required printing which most of them do as a necessary part of their business. Weeklies seldom are successful unless teamed up with a printing plant which does job work.

As For You

You may wonder how this will affect you. The cost of your postal service and its efficiency obviously affect you, but in addition there is a part of the Postmaster's statement which is the tip-off of things to come. While saying that the results of the experiment have not been satisfactory he adds that the only possible solution is increased postal rates. Now he is getting around to your pocketbook.

We can not say that a deal was made between the press representatives and the post office department, but as the result of the recent months of debate over this issue we will not be surprised to see rates go up all along the line. And we also will not be surprised to see the major newspapers supporting such an increase.

This suggests that Mr. Summerfield twisted their tails with the junk mail trial, twisted it until they saw major losses shaping up and they became willing to go along with rate increases, even including second class, a thought that has provoked much editorial comment in past years.

These second class increases have been coming at regular intervals and we have told you that the first few were little more than dribbles which would have no effect on your subscription price. But if they keep dribbling long enough the customer will pay.

And we would not be surprised if it hit you even more directly by going up a cent for first class mail. That would mean a thirty-three per cent increase in your private mailing costs!

We do not know if the various post offices found the junk mail a help or a hindrance. It eliminated sorting the addresses, but made every mailman stop at every home on his route. On a normal day without the mass mailing he would not be called on to make all the stops.

If this method has advantages, why not increase the cost of such service rather than discontinue it? If the mailman must work harder and if he is to be paid more, as he should, and if it is a handy service for merchandisers, charge accordingly.

We are not completely sure who applied the heat on whom in this case, but we are quite sure that the public is going to pay the bill, and it will be a bigger one than in the past, and will come from a variety of directions.

Things to Come

Burning Of The Greens....The huge mountain of Christmas trees which are burned annually at the Twelfth Night exercises will be lit this evening starting around 7 p. m. on Beaty field. Carols will be sung as the king, queen and royal court proceed on the field. Members of the royal family are Girl Scouts and Brownies. The same type of exercises will be held in Youngsville in Island Park.

Industrial Management To Meet. "The Human Side of Industry" will be the subject of Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, of the National Association of Manufacturers, New York City, who will speak at the Executives' Night meeting of the Industrial Management Association Monday. Members will gather at 6:30 p. m. at the YMCA for this dinner meeting.

Tureen For Allen Class....The Allen Class of the First Methodist church will have the Sunday school teachers as its guests at a tureen dinner Tuesday. The dinner will begin at 6:30 p. m. and each member is asked to bring a tureen while the committee will furnish dessert and a beverage. The program will include readings by Jane Munn and music by students of Harry Summers.

Mrs. Gertrude Babcock is program chairman with devotions in charge of Mrs. Franklin Riggs. Committee co-chairmen are Mrs. Richard D. Arnold and Mrs. G. E. Miner.

Children To View Fable....Children of Warren and vicinity will gather in the Warren high school auditorium Tuesday to see a presentation of the fable "Androcles and the Lion". The play is a Edwin Strawbridge production.

Blue Stocking To See Europe. Members of the Blue Stocking Club will view "Europe on a Rainy Day" when Mrs. Fred Plummer shows slides taken on her trip abroad at a meeting of the club Tuesday. The club will gather at 1 p. m. at the YWCA.

D.A.R. To Learn About Youth. The General Joseph Warren chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will hear about "Youth Recreation in Warren" when Mr. Robert Wilder speaks at their monthly meeting Wednesday. Members will gather for dinner at 6 p. m. at the YWCA. Mrs. B. M. Rutledge is chairman of the hostesses and co-chairman is Mrs. C. L. Thompson. Serving on their committee are Mrs. T. L. Armstrong, Miss R. Bernice Dalrymple, Mrs. W. C. Fuellhart, Mrs. F. E. Hertz, Mrs. F. E. Wendelboe, and Mrs. R. L. Young. Reservations must be in by noon on Monday and may be made by calling Mrs. B. M. Rutledge - 1722 or Mrs. C. L. Thompson - 4026.

Lions Club....The Lions Club will hear Mr. Cooligan speak on the earned income tax for Warren Borough at their weekly meeting Tuesday.

Boy Scout Committee To Gather. A dinner meeting will be held by the Boy Scout Commissioners and Organization and Extension committee this evening at the Jackson Heights Restaurant. The meal will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Helpful Hints For Newcomers. Members of the Warren Newcomers Club will gather for a dinner meeting tonight at 6:15 p. m. at the YWCA. Mrs. Helen Morrow will give helpful advice on fashions, the buying of clothes and other style problems. Hostess for the meeting will be Mrs. Edwin Schneider.

Movie For Mothers....A movie will be shown at the monthly meeting of the Young Mothers' Study Club Monday at 8:30 p. m. Serving on the committee for this meeting are Mrs. Milton Dahler, and Mrs. Howard Johnson. Mrs. Neil Culbertson is hostess for the evening.

After The Game Dance....A dance will be held at the YWCA directly following the Oil City-Warren game tomorrow evening. The Warren Y-Teens will sponsor the record dance.

Three Shows will be done by the Warren Players January 27 and 28 when the studio plays will be presented. Though the season ticket shows only one date, the plays will be seen twice because of the large membership.

Names of the plays have not been announced but they consist of a comedy, a serious drama, and a semi-musical. Try-outs are set for Friday and Monday, at 7:30, in the Woman's Club. New members are being urged to take part in hopes of providing fresh talent.

Centennial To Be Celebrated....The Centennial of the International YWCA will be celebrated with an appropriate program Monday, January 17 at the annual meeting of the YWCA. This dinner meeting is open to all members and friends and will begin at 6:15 p. m. Reservations may be made by calling 450.

"6 times cleaner"

DRY CLEANING

WHY IS THE "6 TIMES CLEANER" PROCESS BETTER?
It's a new process employing an entirely new cleaning compound in a concentration 43 times the customary usage. This compound is safer for the finest fabrics—yet has "6 times" the cleaning power of ordinary methods.

HOW DOES "6 TIMES CLEANER" ACT ON STUBBORN SPOTS?
It removes practically all food, perspiration, and water borne soil ... stains which formerly required extra water processing with risk of shrinkage and color loss.

WHAT DOES "6 TIMES CLEANER" DO TO COLORS?
Whites are restored to a snowy freshness ... pastels and deep tones glow again—because light is reflected only from truly clean surfaces.

HOW DO FABRICS FEEL AFTER "6 TIMES CLEANER" CLEANING?
They feel like new! Fabrics have a body and finish that give them the lustre of new articles.

ASIDES

Polio's Big Year

Maybe we should call it a bad year for polio. At least we have such hopes. Next spring we will know the results of the vaccine tests that were made a year ago. Meanwhile, we have the annual job of raising funds, and we will need a major sum if we are to put the finisher on this disease against which we obviously are gaining some ground.

The March of Dimes rolls into action this month and a record sum will be needed if the clincher is to be applied. For one thing it has been decided not to wait for complete reports on the vaccine test, but to spend nine million dollars in an effort to establish a defense against paralytic polio in the blood stream of every first and second grade boy and girl in America.

Quite a task! And you can help. You also know how!

Union Opposes New Tax

The United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America have sent a letter to the press and radio, addressed to Burgess William E. Rice, and opposing what they call an "occupational tax". It follows:

Dear Sir:

We the undersigned members of the Executive Board of UE Local 633 representing workers of the Penna. Furnace and Iron Co. and the DeLuxe Metal Furniture Co. totalling approximately 300 workers hereby go on record as opposing the occupational tax which we are ing to pass. We feel that we are taxed enough and if the Boro needs more taxes they should get it from the owners of businesses whose profits have been higher and who could well afford it.

We are also taking this means of calling on all citizens, organized labor heads, civic groups, lodges, churches and any other groups interested to join with us in such a protest. We are planning a campaign of protest and any interested group may feel free to join with us. Anyone interested may contact any of the Board members listed below and a meeting will be called in the near future.

Yours very truly

Let's Not Be Confusing

We are happy to publish letters, and we believe it is a healthy democratic situation which finds groups taking an active interest in what our local government does, but we also believe that those who present such letters should be fully informed. Otherwise, those who read them will be misled.

Contrary to what this letter says, Warren's council is not proposing an occupational tax. Warren already has one. The writers of the letter no doubt are referring to the discussed earned income tax. This tax does not apply to "laboring" men, alone. Anyone who is paid money by a corporation, company, or business, or who works for himself as a salesman, doctor, lawyer, or other profession, will pay a tax based on the amount of his income. Exempt, if we understand the law, are incomes from stocks or bonds. And these already are taxed by both the federal and the state government.

The citizens of Warren must remember also that council is limited in its taxing by the law. We do not know of any law which will permit the borough to tax profits, as proposed in the letter. Again we say, if we are to come before council as citizens making recommendations we must know what is needed and how it can be obtained legally.

(This week's Observations col-

IMPROVEMENT. Above the swirling waters of the Conewango, employees of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways are improving the walk-ways of the Pennsylvania ave. bridge. The men reported that new channel iron and I-beams will be installed to support a fine mesh surface. Both walks will be completed during the next month or so. No changes are planned for the traffic area.

NEW FIRE DEPARTMENT ORGANIZED. Men from the area surrounding Starbrick met in the basement of the community church, Tuesday evening, to formulate plans for a volunteer fire department. This conclave was the climax to other preliminary get-togethers and a sense of awareness to responsibility seemed to direct the thinking.

Officers elected and committees appointed including the following

Standing - C. W. Parks, Howard Brown, G. W. Erickson, Ben Malec, and Fred Berry, all members of the new finance committee. The picture illustrates that these men are willing to back up the chief, his assistant, and the building committee.

ROW II: Harry Kershaw, Red

Weiler, T. A. Esterbrook, Edward Barney, and Keith McIntosh.

ROW III: Samuel Thomas, Forrest Arnold, James Stockdill, and Paul McElhattan.

The next meeting of the organization will be held Thursday, January 13. At the present time, the department has $500 in its treasury.

NEEDS A HOME. Here is the fire truck of the Starbrick department purchased recently from National Forge & Ordnance Co., but it still needs a home. A building committee comprised of Harry Black, chairman, Merrill Dexter, Emerson Honhart, and Ernest Albaugh has assumed the responsibilities relative to choosing and structure.

The most favorable suggestion is a building, basement and large hall, forty feet wide by one hundred feet long. The building will be constructed on a hill side so that the basement is really at the ground level and will house the truck. The Conewango twp. supervisors have agreed to rent one-half of the basement if satisfactory terms can be arranged.
